Our mission is to document, preserve, and educate the public about, Asian Pacific Americans in the U.S. South
About the Asian Pacific American Historical Society (APAHS)

In 2010, the Asian Pacific American Historical Society is a non-profit organization founded in Atlanta, Georgia to document, preserve, and educate the public about, Asian Pacific Americans in the U.S. South, with a specific focus on APA heritage, arts & culture. Through the support of archives, community partners, and the Asian Pacific American community, the APA Historical Society continues to document APA lives in the South, promote awareness of APA contributions, and provide educational programs.

DOCUMENTING APA LIVES IN THE SOUTH
◆ APAs in the South History Project
◆ APAHS/StoryCorps Atlanta APA Family Recording Day at the Atlanta History Center - one Saturday a month bringing diverse APAs to record their family stories in various languages, which are archived with StoryCorps, APA Historical Society, and at the U.S. Library of Congress in D.C.
